

Prototype

Name: Fortune Favors

Goal: You are presented with a 6x6 grid, with each square hidden with “?” symbols. The player’s goal is to reveal all squares with positive symbols (represented with +). Avoid all death symbols (represented with X). Lose condition: Reveal X five times, you lose.

Rules: The player selects a shape to use in order to reveal parts of the grid
Assume the following diagram to be a PC screen. The control scheme is only the mouse.

Action-by-action game session

For simplicity: grid reduced to 3x3

Player starts the game.

Player selects the “Single”.

Clicks the middle square:

?	?	?
?	+	?
?	?	?

Player selects ☐, clicks top-left, top-middle, middle, and middle-left:

+	+	?
X	+	?
?	?	?

Player selects ☐, clicks right column:

+	+	+
X	+	+
?	?	+

Player selects ☐, clicks bottom row:

+	+	+
X	+	+
X	+	+

Player win

Of course, the grid should be bigger and there should be more X. But the grid was reduced to showcase the core loop and a step-by-step demonstration of what the player will do in the game.